DENEEN CONTROLS THE SITUATION.

He Can Nominate Himself or Judge Reeves for Governor of Illinois.

HANECY'S BACKSET CERTAIN.

His Machine Runs the Cook County Convention and Postpones It Without Having Transacted Any Business.

Chicago, Ill., May 4.- Complete returns from yesterday's Cook County Republican rimaries do not alter the figures in my dispatch of last night. I have interviewed the lenders on both sides, and, while the most extravagant claims for Hancey and Carter are made, when they are sifted the figures stand as given. Counting only ten of the uninstructed delegates for Cartehe is sure of 219, and this leaves Hancey enly 311, and I give him the benefit of every onbiful vote, including twenty-six from Thirteenth Ward, which are owned by te Attorney Dencen.

Mr. Deneen will give no Indication hat he will do with his delegates. If he ante to do the Tanner-Hansey-Lorimer muchine a good turn he will accept the subernatorial nomination himself, but he has repeatedly declared he would not ac cept, and has been persistent in maintain ing that he wanted a renomination for tate Attorney, a place worth $40,000 or $50. 600 a year. Densen is the only man who can defeat Reeves for the nomination, or he can nominate him. In my judgment Dencen can easily be nominated, and there is a question in my mind whether he has not been quietly playng both ends against the middle for the last six months. Here in Chicago he is on very friendly terms with both the Carter and Hanecy leaders. Events in the County Convention to-day tend to strengthen that theory, and when I recall the maneavers of Amos Willoughby in the St. Clair County Convention, I am more than ever impressed with the idea that Mr. Densen is counting on playing a star character in the comic tragedy of next week. It may be that he merely wants his cousin, Willoughby, named for Secretary of State, but Wil-loughly has exhibited no enthusiasm to seeking the office, and, on the whole, I in-cline to the belief that Deneen expects to be the compromise candidate for Governor; and, further, that he has good basis for his expeciations. He can have it if he wants it.

Dencen Helps Haucey.

Ins Tanner Laurer-Hancey machine, with the aid of Dencen, obtained a majority of the State delegates yesterday, and also controlled the County Convention to-day by a good majority, nearly 2 to 1. Mr. Demeen joined Lorimer on the proposition to adjourn the County Convention until after the State Convention. The date was fixed joining Lorimer and Hancey to-day was index to his probable position at Peoria at week. At this the Heriz-Pease-Carter faction recovered its spirits, for it has all along professed to have assurances from Leneon that he was of their faction. Dencen that he was of their faction.

Now this postponement of the County Convention, it is argued, is in the interest of Hancey, for with Lorimer in control of it, and also the Drainage District, and it, and also the Convention Convention of the County of the Convention of the County of nearly all the fifteen Senatorial Conventions, he will have a cord of big clubs to swing at the heads of every candidate for ounty, drainage and legislative office, and Hanesy, consenting to this did not Mr. But in consenting to this did not Mr. Deneen have an eye open for his own interests? Had the County Convention to-day named him for State Attorney it might named him for State Attorney it might have been embarrassing for him at Peorla. As it stands, he may accept the gubernatorial nomination and avoid an awkward predicament. At the same time he can vote for the Lorimer-Tanner programme on the ground that his nomination hangs on a nod from this blue-eyed Congressman. It, will be seen that the Lorimer-Tanner prohine is making a desperate attempt to rengthen its position before the State Jouvention, and the result will not be known until Peorla is reached.

Rictors County Convention.

Riotous County Convention.

Riotous scenes marked the session of the County Convention. For the first time in the history of the Cook County machine in the history of the Cook County machine in the history of the Cook County machine william Lorimer and Henry Hertz clashed in open convention and stood the central figures of a howing mob, shaking their fists in each other's faces as they tried to make themsolves heard in the terrific din, Lorimer had the County Convention, and Heriz raved for recognition in vain. Knowing that the Lorimerites had all plans laid to adjourn the convention until after the Stafe Convention, the Hertz-Pease faction came to the scratch ready to fight. Fearful of unfair tactics in the Committee on Credentials, a Hertz captain moved to consider all contests in open convention. Lorimer opposed this move in a speech delivered on his chair. Then Hertz took the other side, and the two old cronless made a notable picture as they stood giaring at each other-Hertz bristing with rage and the blond boss scarcely concealing a sneer at his crystwhile companion-in-arms.

Chairman John M. Smyth, acting for the Lorimer-Hancey combine, gave Hertz indifferent attention. A fight started in the Eleventh Ward during the roil call, and a platoon of polics were called to restore order. Chairman Smyth ignored Hertz's countermotion to table the Lorimer motion—which recommended the appointment by the chair of a Committee on Credentials—and the roil was called on Lorimer's motion. This resulted:

MR. VANDIVER EXPLAINS.

Post Office Department Satisfied That It Was a Mistake. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, May 4.-Representative Vandiver of the Fourth District this morning called at the Post Office Department and explained the facts in regard to a package of public documents held in the St. Louis post office bearing his congressional frank, and reported to contain also clothing belonging to Mr. Vandiver's family. The Second Assistant Postmaster General stated that his office had no information of the matter, but, upon the explanation made by Mr. Vandiver that the sack got into the mails through an error, instructions would be sent to Postmaster Baumhoff to forward the package to Mr. Vandiver's home. Mr. Vandiver also called on Assistant Attorney General Tyner, who said that the explanation was portectly satisfactory, and that it was too trivial a matter for the department to consider seriously. General Tyner added that instructions would be sent to St. Louis for the proper forwarding of the sack. It appears that it was not addressed to any person or post office, which bears out fully Mr. Vandiver's statement that the sack was not intended to be mailed, but to be sent to his new residence in the city. Owing to the confusion of moving his goods the sack was improperly delivered to the mail wagon by Mr. Vandiver's clerk. explained the facts in regard to a package
